Merritt Hawkins & Associates is the nation's largest physician search and consulting firm, representing clients in all 50 states. Though we provide the most comprehensive resources in the industry, we also apply a personalized, detail-focused approach to each search assignment we represent. In the following client assessment, Kevin Saff, Executive Director of Jamestown Area Medical Associates, describes how Merritt Hawkins & Associates assisted his medical group.

“We were seeking to recruit a neurologist and an internist. We are located in a semi-rural area of upstate New York. We offer superb practice opportunities but ours is not, at present, an up-and-coming geographical area.”

“We retained Merritt Hawkins & Associates because they are a very reputable and respected physician search firm. As we expected, they did a very professional job.”

“The firm's consultants are outstanding at presenting candidates to physician practices. We appreciated the fact that they meet with the candidate prior to scheduling them for the actual interview. They do a great job interacting with candidates and preparing them appropriately. Other physician search firms certainly don't focus on that level of detail and interaction with candidates.”

“I would work with Merritt Hawkins & Associates again and anticipate that we will use MHA again for any and all future searches.”
