Main Line Dermatology
Wayne, Pennsylvania

Merritt Hawkins' approach to physician search is based on a willingness to tailor each search to its clients' needs while providing the expertise and resources required to be successful in today's rapidly evolving market. In the following client assessment, Scott Shafrank, M.D., owner of Main Line Dermatology in Wayne, Pennsylvania, discusses how Merritt Hawkins' approach proved effective for his practice.

"We required either a dermatology resident or an experienced dermatologist to join our practice. The challenge was the dearth of appropriate candidates in our specialty."

"Merritt Hawkins' consultants proved to be readily available and they were adaptable to our specific needs. At the same time, they provided us with a high level of scholarly advice."

"One of the firm's key strengths is their wide reaching network of physicians. This was combined with consultative expertise, particularly regarding contractual advice."

"In comparing Merritt Hawkins with other search firms, I would rank Merritt Hawkins by far above the rest."

"I can recommend Merritt Hawkins without reservation and I would certainly use them again."
